★ PRESIDENT RICHARD J. WERNER epitomizes an institution whose every emphasis is the propagation of our American heritage. His vision, leadership, and perseverance mirror for us the vast potentialities of the college in its destined course of achievement. He commands the confidence and respect of all who come within the aegis of his friendly and forthright personality—and they are legion.

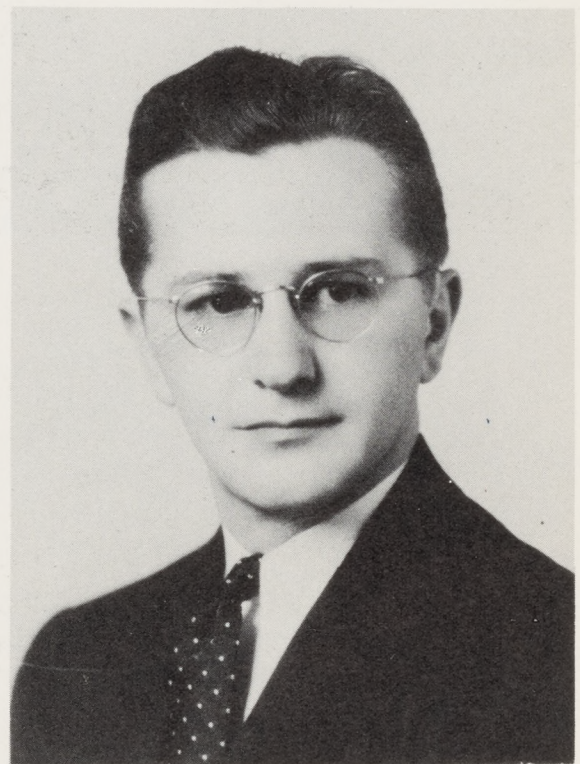

John B. Lemos' advice as mentor to those who aspire to advanced collegiate and professional training is of inestimable value.

Luella J. Hall as counselor for the General College capably guides students into courses of adaptability for all around living.

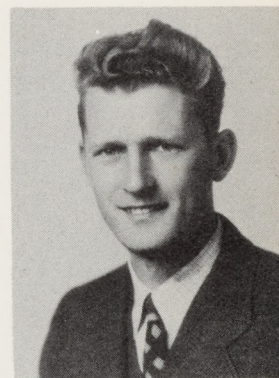

Anne M. Lescisin gives careful attention to placement problems and to the increasing part taken by women in campus life.

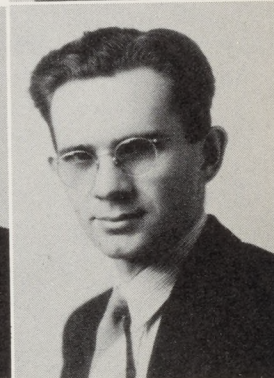

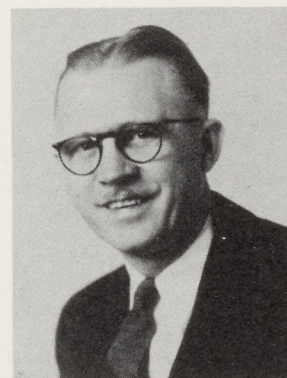

George F. Aughinbaugh competently and skillfully directs the affairs minutiae of the Controller's Office.

School Board

The School Board holds a position of utmost importance in this institution's vital processes. Seldom vocal outside of their meetings, signal service is performed by Dr. Roscoe Case, secretary, on those festive occasions when he has graciously consented to speak on this campus. Having the final word in all financial and personnel decisions, the School Board has shown itself in the school year of 1940-41 to be exceptionally understanding in administrative matters, and liberal in its appropriations. This expanding college is indeed fortunate to be managed by men who realize that an investment in the raw material of citizenry means a greater probability of excellence in the future leaders of our country.

Sophomore Class

Bulging with activities was the calendar of the 1940-41 sophomore class. As if to make their last year at the Salinas Junior College a year permeated with pleasure, both active and reflective, the upperclassmen were integrated into an alert, progressive group, mindful of their social duties, yet conscious of the potentialities of college academic life.

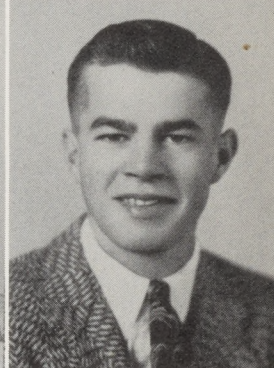

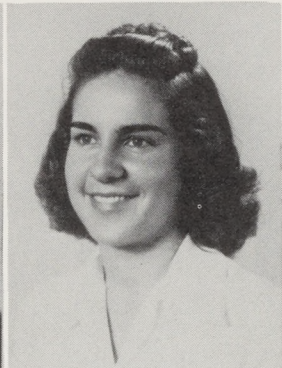

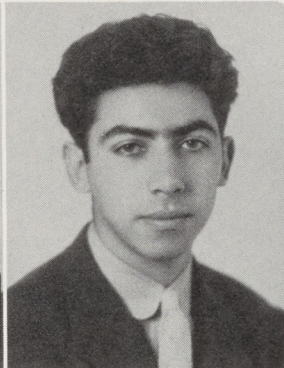

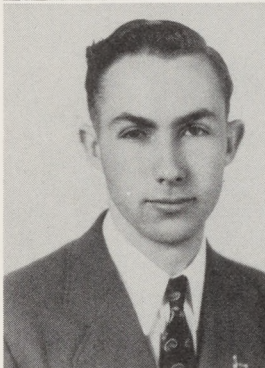

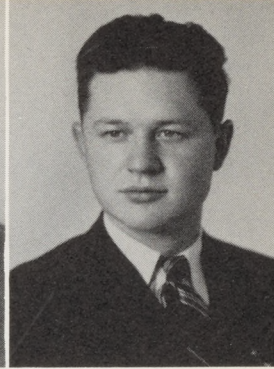

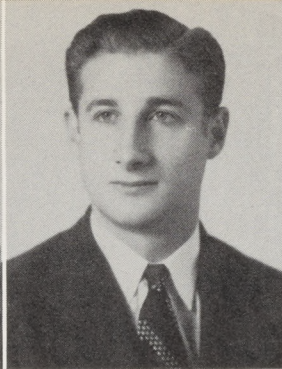

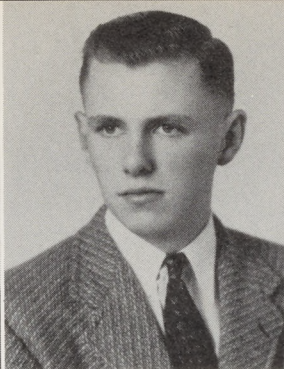

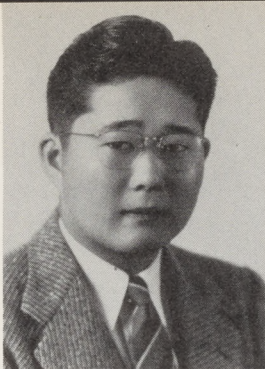

Athletic events of the annual field day were marshalled by the sophomore class, which also took over many of the responsibilities of the Men's Club supper in the evening. The spring informal, another sophomore project, was considered superlative entertainment, as was the sophomore variety show, an extravaganza of collegiate talent.

Because of the exceptionally high average he has maintained in his chosen field, Science, John Cincotta has been rewarded with a life membership in the Alpha Gamma Sigma.

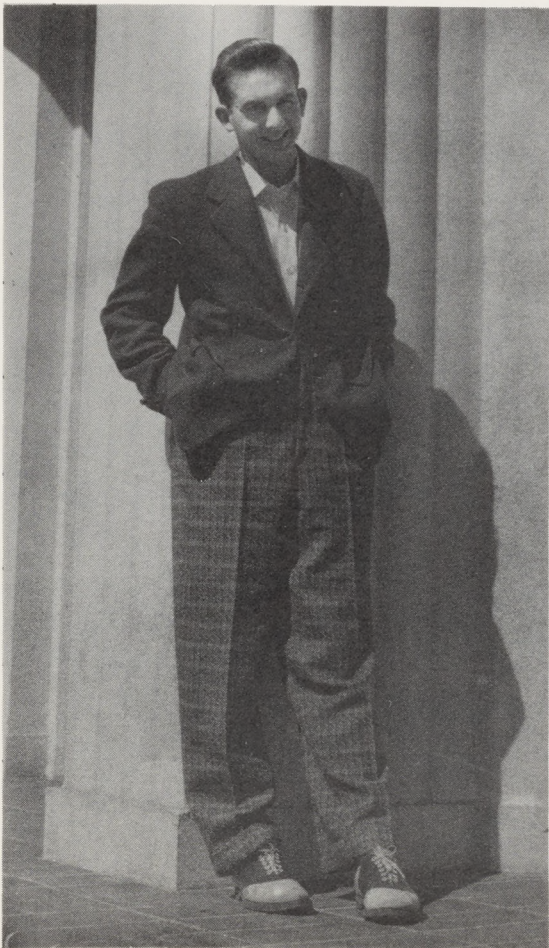

Bill Garin's chief interest are skiing, swimming, and social activities. Sun-tanned "Speed" is a member of the College Ski Team.

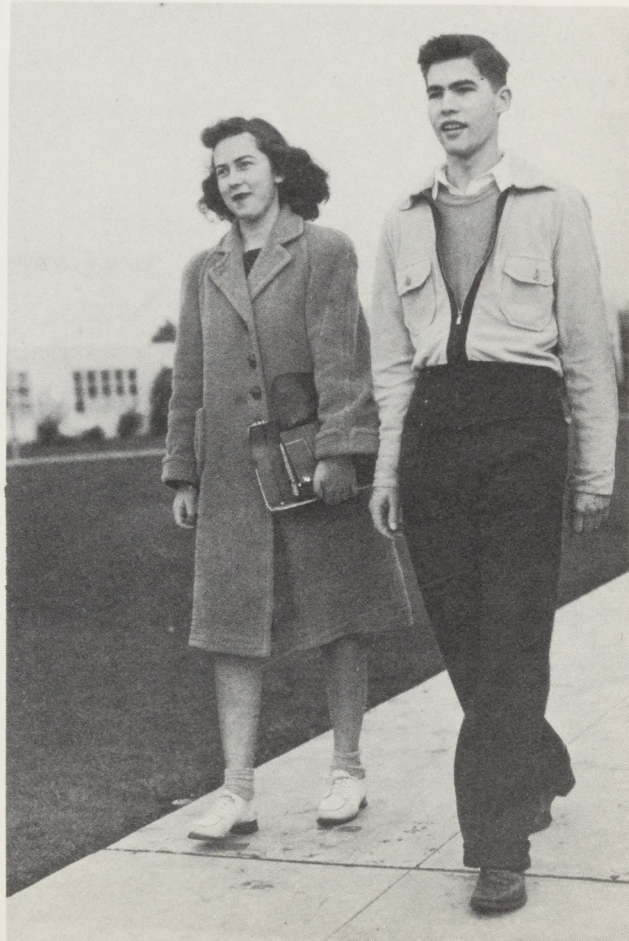

Freshman Class President, Morry Ferguson, divides his spare time between the student store and the speech department.

Marsh Glos, convivial and congenial Oregonian, proved himself in basketball and social activities committee.

Genial Bob Voris took time off from his job as Freshman Commissioner to play varsity basketball.

Hazel Daniels—blonde bombshell of the social activities committee, Junior Soroptimists and trio.

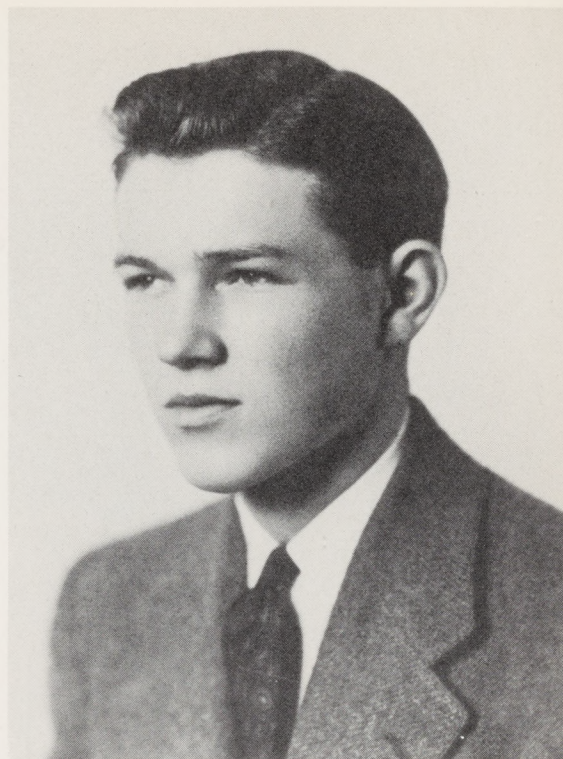

Champion Miler Jim Ring applied his track knowledge to become winner of the cross country Turkey Run.

John Hughes, ski club president, was a quiet but efficient worker on the social activities committee.

Freshman Class

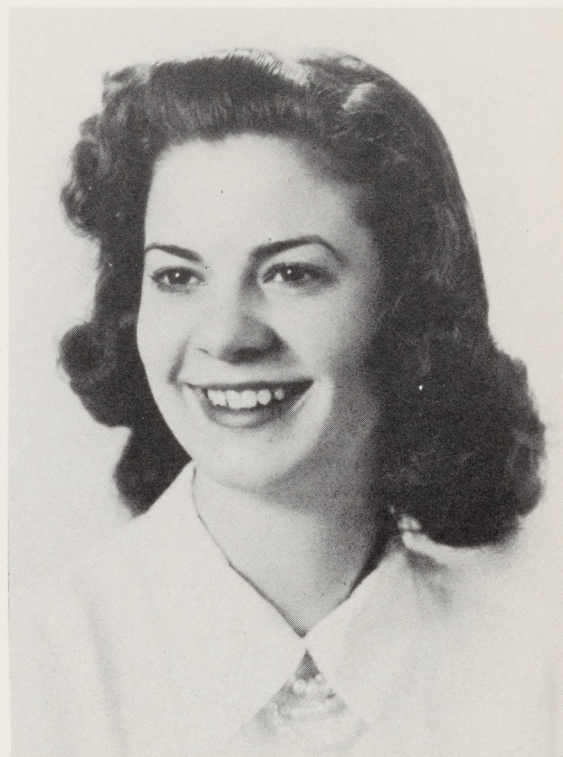

This year's neophytes established a splendid example of enthusiasm in extra curricular activities for future lower classmen to rightfully envy. Nor were they unmindful of scholastic attainment. Whole-hearted participation was endemic in the following memorable enterprises of the year: Field Day, Bonfires, Pajamerino, and Frosh Reception. Efficiently instrumental to the very finale of each activity and worthy of all-college mention were Pat Adcock, Harold Coehlo, Beverly Van Buren, Bob Voris, Alva Phillips, Lester Kaplan, Marjorie Force, Marsh Glos, Mike Stewart, and Morry Ferguson.

ACTIVITIES

Activities

The Social Activities Committee imbued with enthusiasm and aestheticism planned two of the most delightful events of the year, the Winter Ball and the Spring Formal. Also on their agenda were various informal dances, both rustic and sophisticated. Presided over by Elyse Bartenstein, the Committee achieved a ranking place in campus affairs.

The spirited efforts of the rally committee were most influential in setting the tempo of fervor and frenzy at football games. Because of their consistent encouragement, assemblies, and sports events were exceptionally well attended. Chairmanned by dynamic Ed Brock, the committee gave mass transfusions of enthusiasm the year 'round.

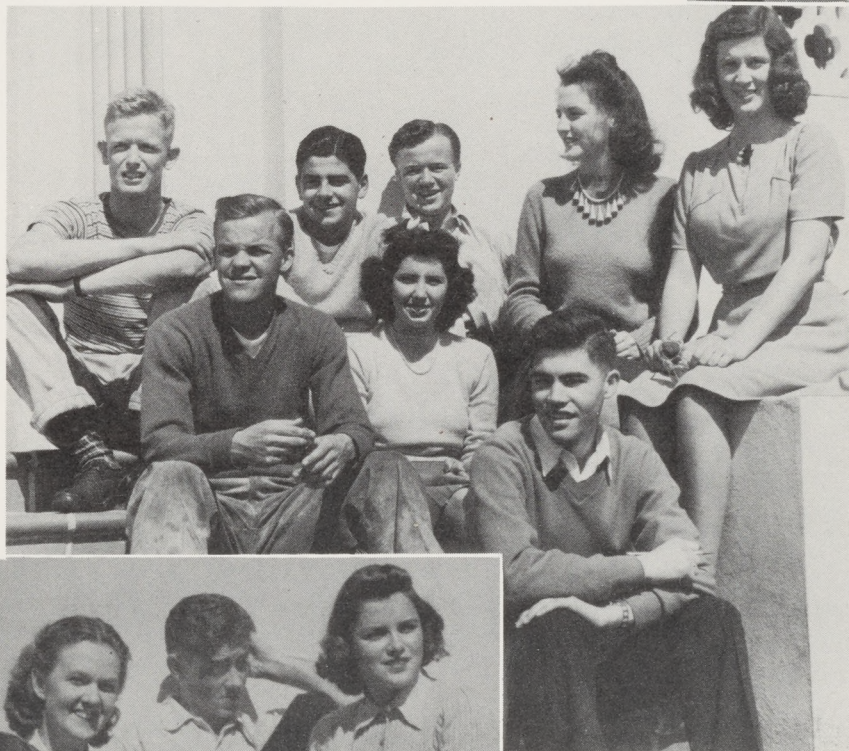

Sid Gadsby and Jack Dolan, announcers supreme, managed to sift out of the exciting debris of the big games, clear, cold, uncolored facts, and relayed them to breathlessly awaiting crowds.

With an effective combination of words and pictures, the Publicity Department transferred the Junior College activities to the pages of area newspapers.

NANCY PYLE

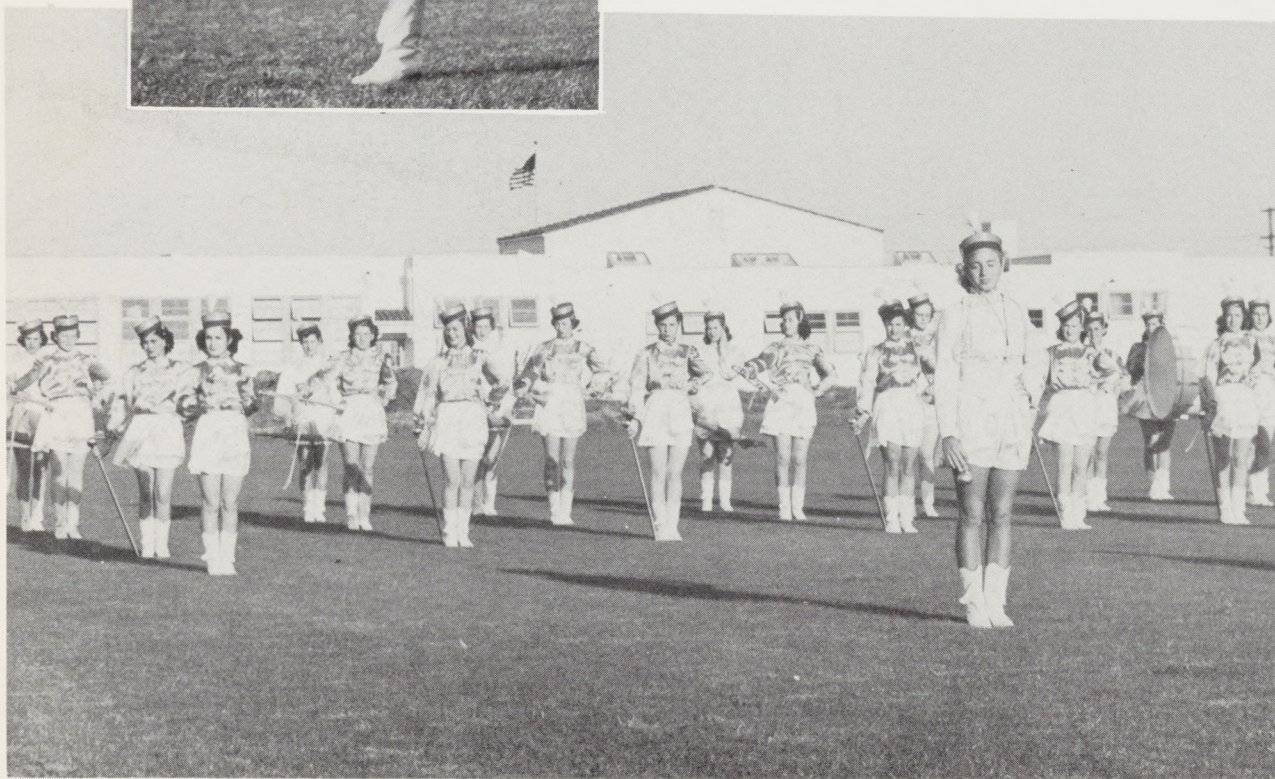

Majorettes

This year at Salinas Junior College was organized the largest college Majorette Corps in the world. Led by blond Kay Hamm, its thirty-two high-stepping members—twirling silvery batons and waving maroon and gold flags—delighted thousands.

Long the dream of Marsden Sherman, commerce instructor at the college, and an erstwhile national champion drum major himself, the corps performed very creditably at all football games.

Battery

To conform, reform, and inform the student body of Salinas Junior College, the journalism classes put out a weekly lightspreader named the "Battery." This four-paged journal provides complete coverage of all student affairs. Captains and crew of the ship-shape informer were as follows: Editor, Richard Barkle; assistant editor, Joan Woodward; special feature editors, Molly Bushki and Dawn Overhulse; sports editors, Al Perez, John Buckley, and Fred Weybret; exchange editor, Kay Hamm. Beats were covered by a staff of approximately ten reporters. Copy and makeup deadlines for the Battery was the fifth hour each Tuesday, thus permitting time for copy-reading, printing, proof-reading, and the final issuance of the paper Friday mid-day.

Symphony Orchestra

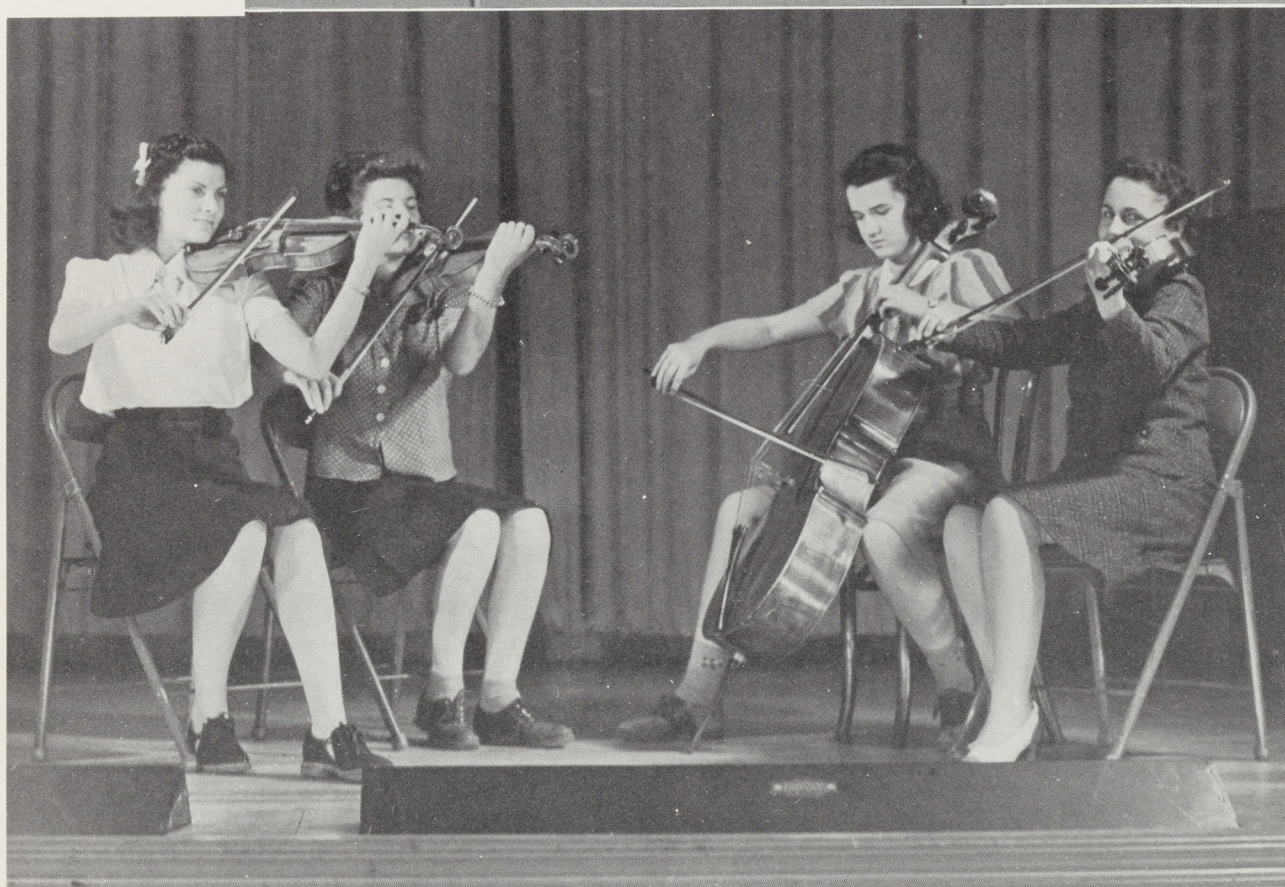

Not yet having realized its ideal of full orchestration, the Salinas Junior College orchestra has nevertheless become a well balanced Little Symphony. This group is interested primarily in the study and presentation of good music. The year's work in symphonic training was demonstrated at the concert given here on April 2. Music critics have acclaimed the orchestra as the finest this Junior College has ever produced. Several ensembles have been formed from this group, and these have been active in community functions. These are the girls' string quartet, the violin choir and the Courante string wood quartet.

Band

Outstanding in its colorful and showy performances was this year's marching band, which, with the support of the majorettes played at Santa Rosa and at every home game during the football season. Their trip to Reno, financed by an appreciative student body, climaxed the unusually successful series.

Extra-curricular work included marching in the Army Day parade last October 26 and the performance of the Oompah band at the local Catholic church bazaar, November 13 and 14.

Following the football season, the concert band was organized—which studied symphonic music extensively, performing at the fourth annual spring concert held here on April 2.

A Cappella

Upholding the standards of previous Salinas J. C. A Cappella Choirs, the 1941 Spring Semester group of 45 has performed creditably at various local functions.

March 30 they sang at the Sunday evening service of the Methodist Church, on April 19 they sang at the Coast Counties Festival held at the local high school. On April 25 they sang before the Women's Club here. May 5 they traveled up to Stanford University, to perform at the Northern California Junior College Choir Festival.

Ensemble Singers

The Ensemble Singers of Salinas Junior College is composed of several group and soloist performers. Class work includes trio, duet, and solo singing, much of which was done publically. The group as a whole has performed locally before the Kiwanis Club, the Masons, and the Women's Club. They also assisted at the memorable "Night in Cairo" sponsored by the Art Club, and sang at the modern dance program.

Alpha Gamma Sigma

Like the 25 other chapters of Alpha Gamma Sigma in California, Nu Chapter chooses its members on the basis of scholarship, extra-curricular activities, and character. This organization successfully sponsored the second Homecoming Day for the Alumni. Several delegates attended the state convention at Reedley. Among the most coveted of the commencement awards are the gold pins presented annually to a select group attaining the high standards required for life membership.

Upsilon Gamma Chi

Outstanding in the work of transforming timorous freshmen women into poised coeds has been the Upsilon Gamma Chi, a Greek letter sorority to which all feminine enrollees automatically belong. Entertaining done by this society was particularly motivated this year by both Helen Bidleman, the fall semester president, and Louise Graham, the spring semester president, who were Home Economics majors. Permeating the group's following activities was the personality of their gracious and charming advisor, Mrs. Hope Baxter; Freshmen receptions, ribbonero, barn dance, backwards dance, Mother's tea, and annual picnic.

Men's Club

The Mens' Club, made up of all men students in the college, was organized to promote intramural sports and social activities. In the fall semester the club was responsible for the highly successful Whiskerino climaxed by the Men's Club supper.

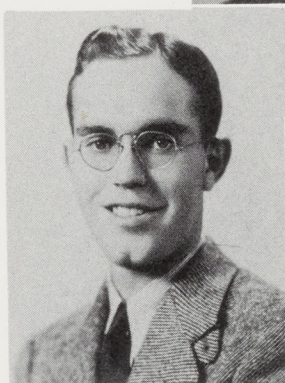

An innovation this year was the campaign for Campus Queen, a highlight of Anniversary Day. The whole affair was under the able direction of President Art McChesney who also arranged for the clever dance at which Cecelia La Velle was crowned Queen of the Campus.

Toastmasters

The year's program of the Toastmaster's club was designed by advisors Karl Bengston and Roy Hohberger to provide its members with a practical apprenticeship in presidiary work.

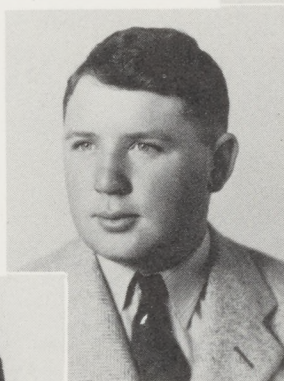

With numerous debates these novices have demonstrated marked improvement in extemporaneous public speaking.

As a climax to the year's events was the annual Toastmaster's banquet.

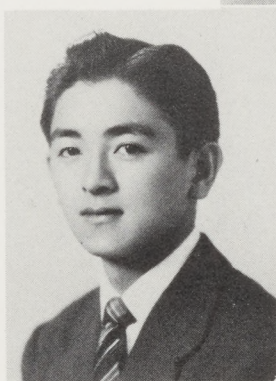

Showing greatest improvement in a genial table-side manner have been George Ikeda, Phil Wilson, Jack Nelson, and Fred Weybret.

Rainbow Club

At the beginning of the school year the Rainbow Club gave a reception for new members. Later a dance after a football game was sponsored by the group, and at Easter a girl from each town was delegated to deliver a food basket to a needy family.

Second semester officers were Beverly Van Buren, president; Marjorie Force, vice-president; Marjorie Ottens, secretary; and Ayleen Dyche, treasurer.

Westminster

The Westminster Club, conducted through student discussion, met every three weeks during the year. The group discussed questions of religion, practical psychology and philosophy. Frequently, outside authorities were invited to speak to the members. An especially notable topic was "Science and Religion," presented by the Rev. Elwood Hunter. Equally interesting was the address of the Rev. Ashton who spoke concerning marriage and social relations.

Newman Club

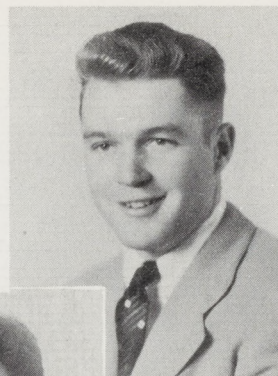

Under the direction of Mr. Murrin members of the Newman Club have seen another exceedingly successful year pass. The purpose of the club is to organize the Catholic students of the college and to bring noted speakers before their meetings. Affairs other than those of business were handled by a committee that recently sponsored a "Spring Fever" dance in the gym. Jim Ring was general chairman of the gala affair.

Future Farmers

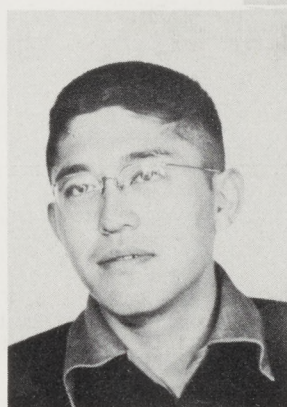

Perhaps the least publicized of all the clubs and organizations on the school campus, but nevertheless far from being the least active is the Salinas Junior College chapter of the Future Farmers of America. As a symbol of their progressiveness and initiative, a local representative, Byron Pressley, was elected vice-president of the state organization. At the annual state convention held recently in Modesto, the chapter proved its worth by placing first in farm-judging contests and by procuring the next convention in 1942 for Salinas.

Activities of one of the most outstanding social groups in Salinas Junior College were those of the Japanese Club. The first highlight of the year was the Freshman Reception, followed by a thriving Christmas social. In February, Valentine's Day was the object of 1941's first big event for this organization. To climax a most successful year's activities for the ever growing Japanese Club, an enthusiastically attended graduation dance was held.

The club raffled a pair of Lund hickory skiis, showed ski motion pictures, and sponsored a ski team that entered in inter-collegiate competition.

Block S

The go-getter Block S Society may be held directly accountable for a veritable myriad of flourishing activities, the following being the most prominent: Block S. dinner, two rally assemblies, a dance besides running off the alumni basketball game, Alumni Day, and a track meet. The club also organized a new constitution to guide them in future years. Throughout the year their exploits may be accredited mainly to the ability of Gordon Brown, Monico Arroyo, Manny Chappell, Walt Trotter, Fred Joyce, Herman Kasavan, Frank McAllister, Bill Leonard, and Willard Branson.

The newest and one of the best-known organizations in the college is the Vagabond Club. From the time of its origin in October, the membership list of "out-of-state" students has constantly increased. The club was formed with the purpose of everyone getting acquainted with their new surroundings of state and college. Membership is invitational and is not restricted to non-Californians. Mrs. Maxine Gillis is faculty advisor.

By losing a heart-breaking contest to their oldest rivals, Santa Rosa Junior College, in the last twenty seconds of play, the 1940 football eleven of the Salinas Junior College gave up all chances of retaining their conference championship which they had won the previous year. Sparked by the brilliant performances of their co-captains, Gordon Brown and Willard Branson, the Panthers scored 110 points to their opponents 0 in the first three games of the season before dropping a 13-7 loss to Stockton. This defeat also broke an undefeated home game record which the Panthers had run up for over a period of two and one-half years.

With competition for a starting position very keen and due to the equality of ability among the players a definite starting team was never chosen until game time. And because of the fact that there were many contenders for the first string positions, they were generally selected from the following list, but with many potential performers among the rest of the squad: Leonard, Chappell, Turner, Houser, Mack, Cornett, Stewart, Trotter, Keeley, Hunter, Verhines, Branson, Arroyo, Brown, and Voris.

AWARDS—The annual award which are given to two of the players for their individual performances were both won this year by members of the Panther backfield. Manny Chappell quarterback, received the Sproles watch for being the most valuable player, and Ralph Mack, hard plunging fullback, won the Perry trophy for being the most inspirational player of the year.

PRE-GAME INSTRUCTIONS

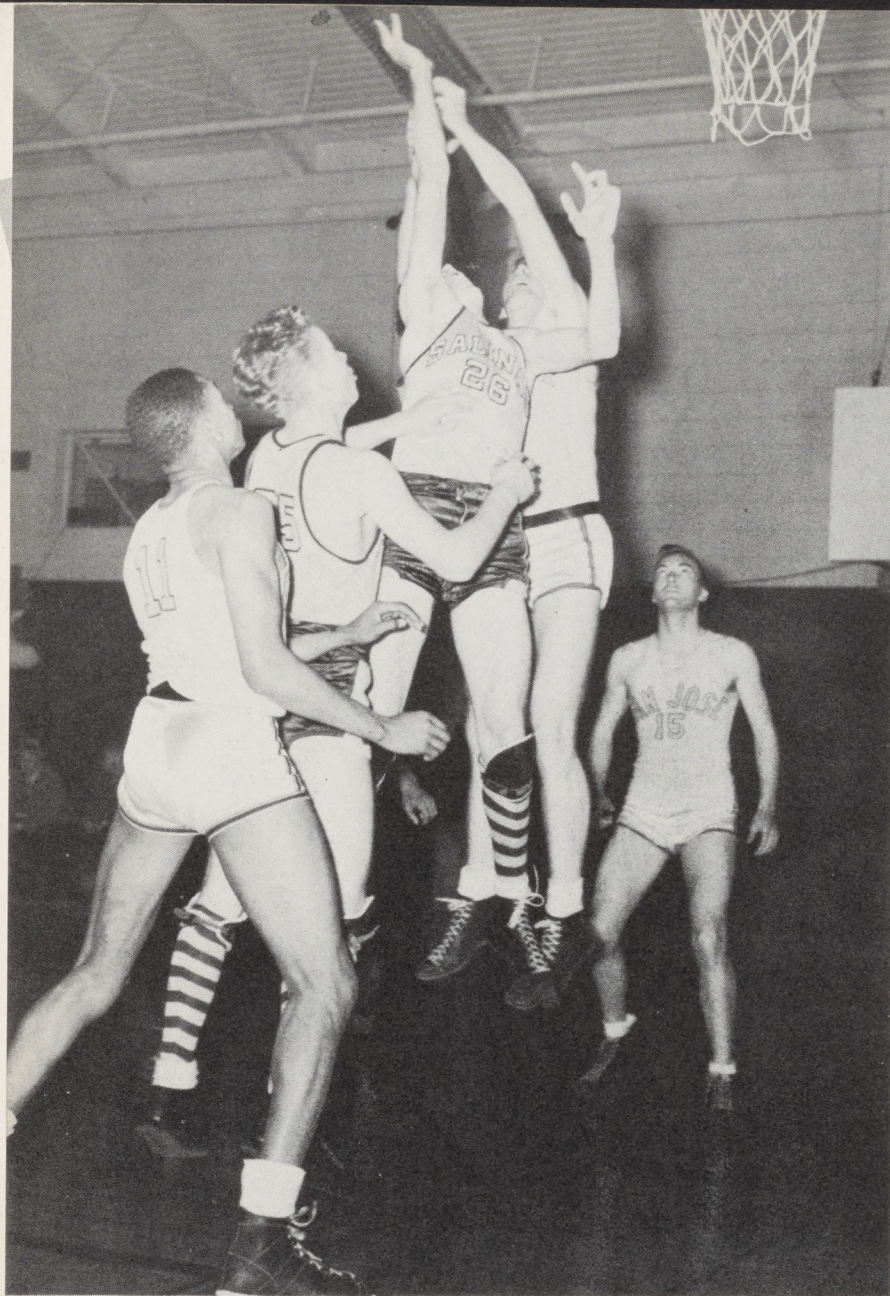

Captain Took Tainer Tries for a
Basket

Ending the season in the upper division with a record of six wins and seven losses, the Salinas Junior College Panthers enjoyed their best year of competition since 1937 when they won the conference crown. Meeting some of the strongest teams in the state in tournament play, the Panthers gave a good accounting of themselves by winning several of these games, among these being a victory over the highly touted Pasadena Junior College.

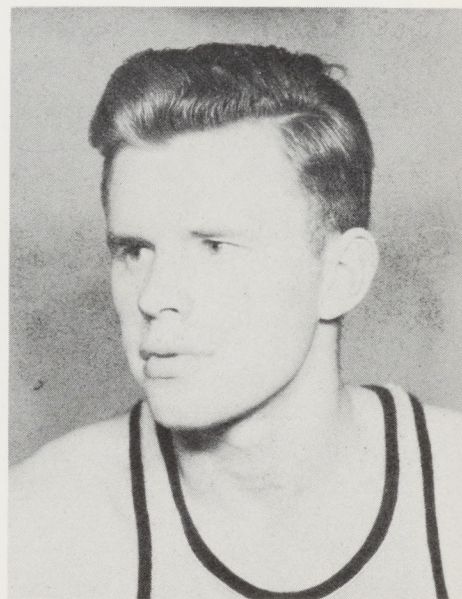

Having to do much experimenting in the early part of the season, Coach Ed Adams finally found a suitable starting combination in Captain Took Tainer, Floyd Erickson, Charles Lee, John Lasich, and Frank McAllister, all of whom are sophomores. Although securing themselves a first string position, these men were hard pressed by the rest of the squad who were delighted with doing nothing better than to make them work to retain their hard earned positions.

● CAPTAIN TOOK TAINER

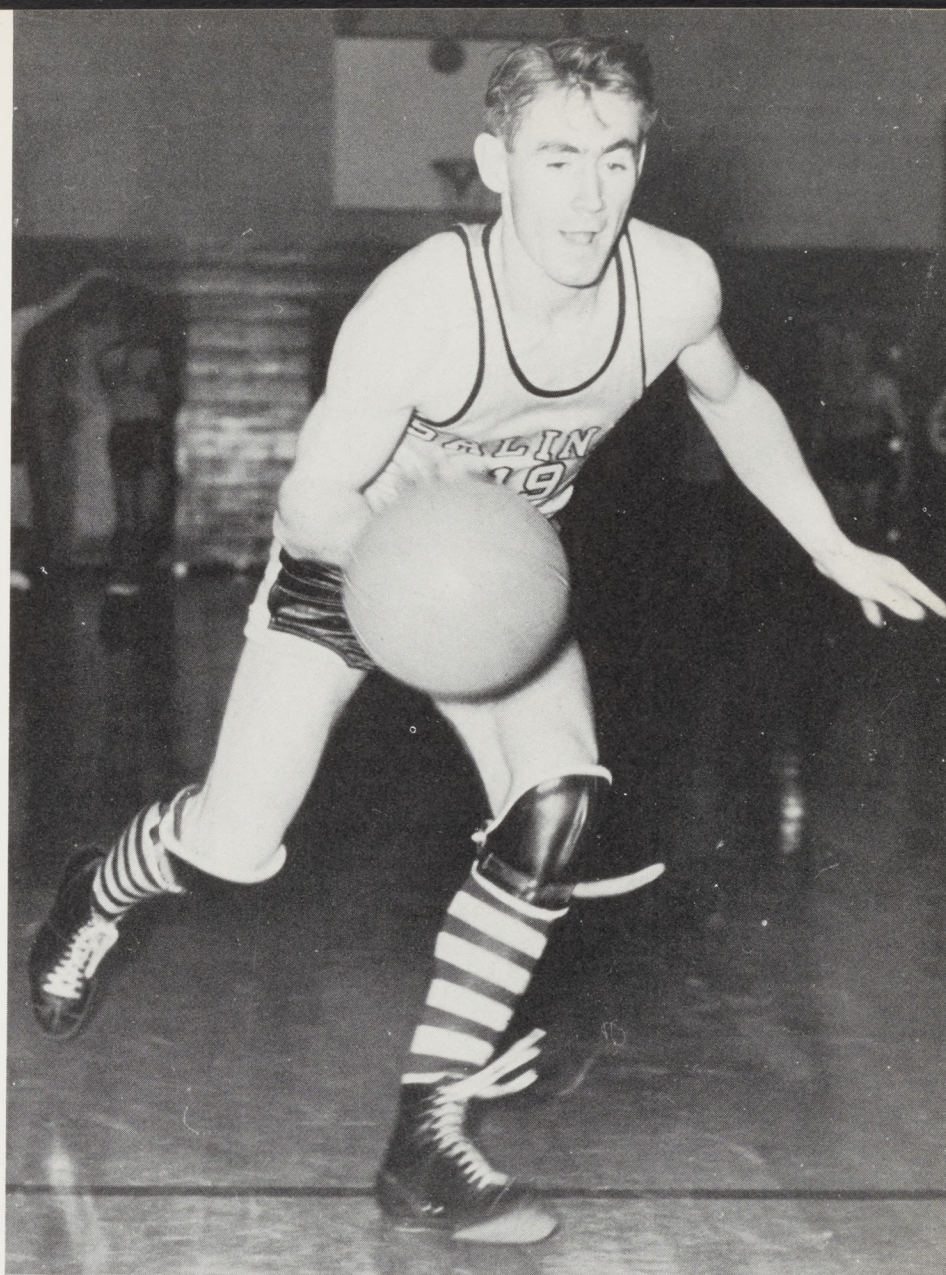

Captain Took Tainer, sharp shooting high scorer for the Panthers, was one of the most outstanding players ever to have played in a Maroon and Gold uniform. Accurate shots and effective ball handling made Took the individual player of the season. Inaugurating a complete new system of competition, this year's baseball team was considered by many to be one of the best in the history of the school. Withdrawing from the Northern California Junior College Conference, the Panthers played entirely free lance ball, meeting some of the stiffest junior collge and semi-pro opposition that the state had to offer. Also introduced this year was the system of selecting the players from previously played intra-mural competition which resulted in an increased school interest in the sport.

Doug Flautt, second year man and mainstay in the 440, also ran as lead-off man in the relay

Herman Kasavan, another second year man, competed in all field events, and was especially outstanding in the shot put

Harold Davis, leader of the Panther squad and "world's fastest human," again proved his supreme ability

Composed of Harold Davis, Douglas Flautt, Jim Ring and Bill Tykol, the mile relay team was declared to be one of the best in the history of the college.

Jim Ring, freshman half miler and holder of numerous high school records in that event, was one of the more outstanding individual performers for the Panthers during the past season.

Bill Junkans and Doug Pearson, former one-two record holders in the O. A. L. hurdles, were very active participants and were always potential threats in the hurdle races.

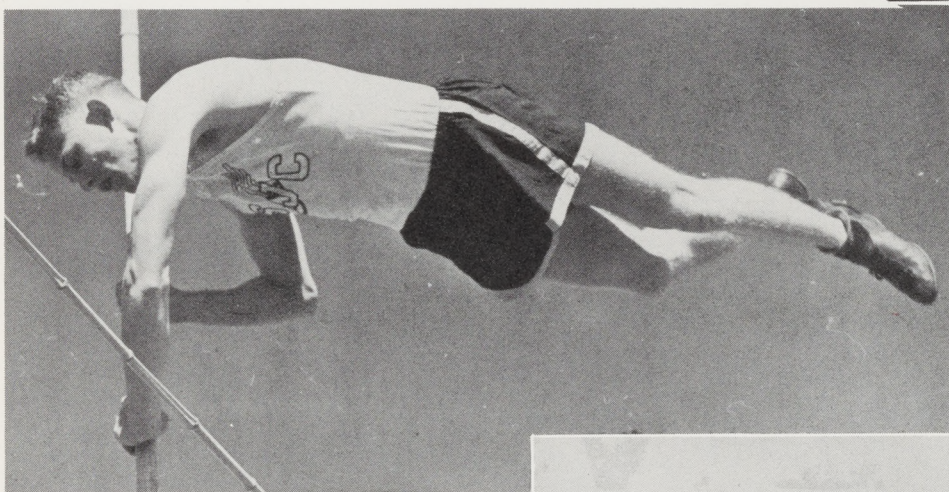

Curt Sikes, dash man on the Panther squad, was one of the quickest starters on the team. He enjoyed the distinction of finishing closer to Davis than any other junior college competitor.

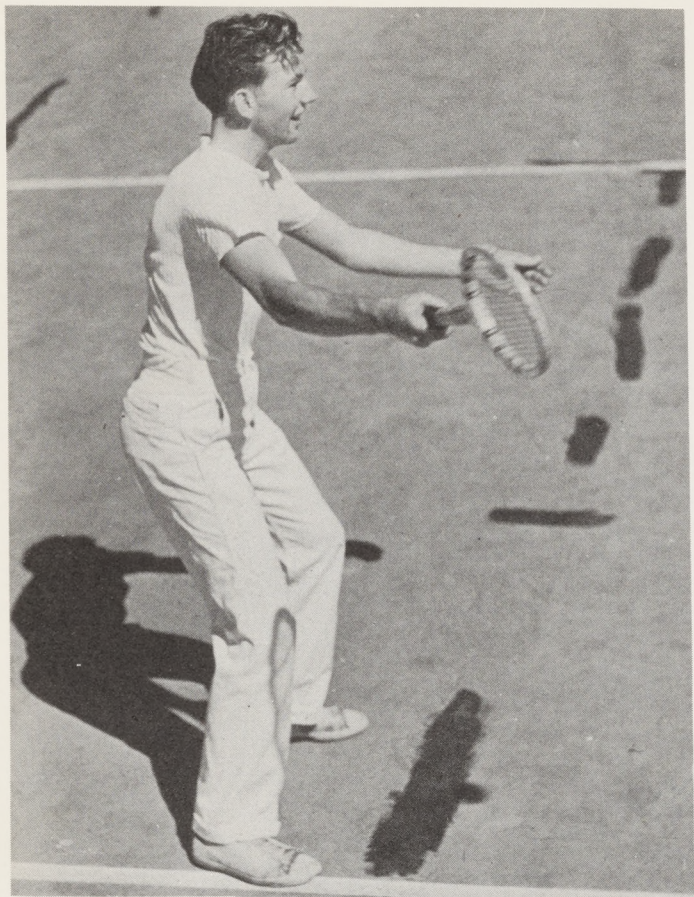

Lee Macauley, returning letterman, aided by his year's experience in running the high hurdles, proved the mainstay in this event for the Panther squad.

Ray Bergesen upheld the morale of the Panther vaulters during the season. By the end of the year, he was flirting with the N. C. J. C. C. record of 13 feet, 7 inches.

Frank Freeman, Warren Gipe and Roy Sherman formed a jumping combination that made tough N. C. J. C. C. competition all season.

Tennis

As a minor sport, tennis has become a major item in this category in the Junior College. Defending titleholders of the NCJC championship from last year, the Panthers have been conceded a good chance to repeat their previous victory. With two returning veterans from last year's campaign, Joe Hyatt and John Lasich, to bolster the Salinas hopes, this year's edition of the tennis squad presents a formidable evenly balanced team. The S. J. C players were Emerson, Hyatt, Lasich, Johnson, Sorenson, and Gamboa.

Standout players of this group were George Bevan, Frank Thatcher and Al Perez.

Boxing

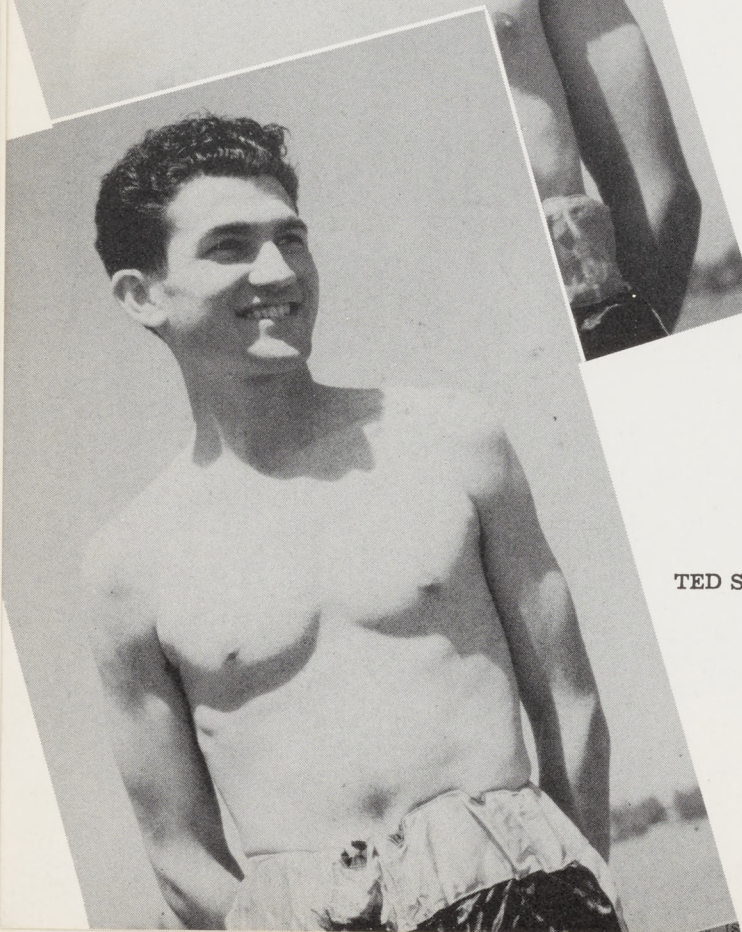

One of the best boxing teams that Coach Adams has been associated with in S. J. C. brought him many praises this year, especially in its debut against Cal Poly on Anniversary Day. This was a most successful afternoon for the Salinas pugilists since all but one of the decisions were awarded them. Fred Kostaras in the 126-pound class, Joe Sapena, a 135-pounder, and Markham Johnson in the 145-pound division were the first three winners. A knockout by 160-pound Herb Schiro, and a win by Cliff White, 170-pounder, climaxed the event.

Tumblers

Tumbling, under the guidance of Mr. Peavy, has in four years rocketed from the romper stage to a position from which it commands the interest and admiration of all onlookers. This year the tumbling team provided entertainment at the football games, performing feats of precision. Although the boys spend much of their own time in regular hours of practice, they do not receive letters, as tumbling is a non-competitive sport.

Tennis, a perennial favorite individual sport, claimed a greater following than last year. In the first semester twenty girls took part in an extra-curricular tournament from which Helen Bidleman emerged as victor by defeating Mildred Burns. Despite the handicap of wet weather the regular classes—two of which were coeducational—managed to attain a high degree of skill in the course of a few months. Several smaller tournaments were held in which the players displayed almost professional ability—proof of the popularity of the game.

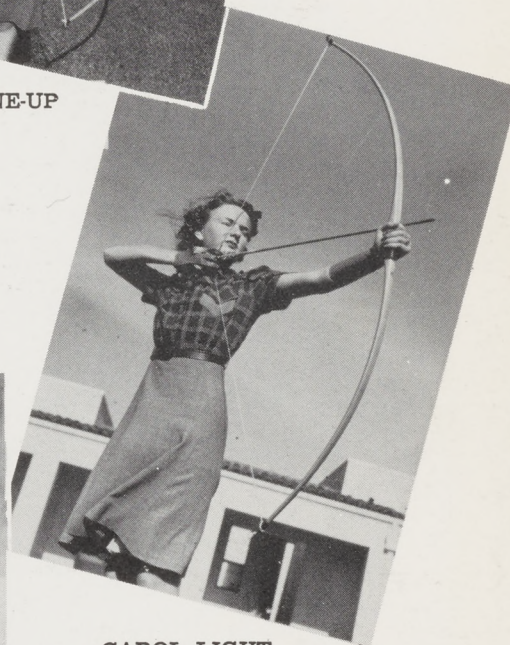

Archery

This year the Archery classes—reinforced with new equipment—were more sought after than ever before with over forty girls enrolled. To add interest to the course, Miss Hutchinson held a novelty shoot on the last day of the fall semester in which elusive balloons were tied to the target. The person who popped the greatest number was sumptuously rewarded with a bag of peanuts.

During the first semester, a very satisfactory tournament was held under the management of Betty Bingaman. The beginning classes, although inexpert at first, soon progressed to a point from which they could easily hit the bull's eye four times out of six while shooting from a distance of thirty yards.

Modern Dance

Most exotic of the physical education classes for women, modern dancing has taken a fair share of the entertainment spotlight this year. As part of the Allied Art's "Evenings for Tomorrow" experiment they participated in both the winter and spring programs. The January 20th production in this series found the modern dance contribution outstanding in its simple interpretations of classic nursery rhymes. By far the most enterprising public appearance came in the spring. With choreography entirely by flaming Freda Hutchinson, the graceful instructor, modern dance students presented a complete program. Novel effects, including step patterns paced by choral accompaniment, proved especially successful.

Tap

Constant practice of the involved routines learned in tap classes develops a precision of timing and rhythmic sense which will later be of value not only in ballroom dancing but in maintaining balance. Soft shoe, rhythm buck, and waltz-clog routines practiced in equal numbers throughout the course made pleasantly diversified dancing. Virginia Kirby, an especially talented member of the class, was encouraged by the instructor, Miss Hutchinson, to demonstrate several new routines for the benefit of the receptive classes.

Riding

Riding is one of the most useful and enjoyable sports offered to the women of Salinas Junior College. Once a week the classes—both beginners and advanced students—meet at the Rodeo grounds from whence they depart to bounce joyously over the roads surrounding Salinas. The novice equestriennes, although timid at first, soon became quite adept and trotted their horses with an air of abandon. There were no riding tournaments held this year, but during the course of instruction, Jean McTavish and Gladys Thomsen showed themselves to be particularly capable horsewomen.
